Peel Off the Old Skin; Bring Out the New

You know that beneath that muddy, over-tanned or blotchy complexion you have a skin that is clear, soft and white. If you could only have this most beautiful skin exposed to view instead of the horrid old skin you now behold in your mirror. You can—and by a very simple, harmless process which you can use yourself. Get an ounce of common mercuric iodine and rub it on your face every evening after a thin coating of it over your face. Tomorrow morning wash it off with warm water. Small powder-like particles of the iodine will come off with the wash. Repeat this daily until all the worn-out dead skin has been sloughed. Then you'll have a lovely, healthy looking complexion that you now think possible. Chaps, pimples, spots, freckles or other surface blemishes are caused by the removal of the skin itself.

DELIGHTFUL DANCING PARTY GIVEN BY LES PASSEES

The charming members of the young married set, who compose the membership of Les Passeees, will be the hostesses at the most thoroughly delightful affair on Friday evening, marking the beginning of a brilliant mid-winter season.

Between the two large fireplaces, where a cherry blaze greets the guests while the scarlet and white blossoms with ferns banking the mantels, will add an artistic touch, the three lovely young officers of the club will welcome the guests. Harbor Canal Is Filled Badly By Late High Water

A deposit of mud ranging from two to three feet in depth was left in the canal as a result of the recent rise in the river. This fact was determined by the United States dredge fleet from soundings taken a few days ago.

The soundings were taken in order that the dredge fleet officials might keep in touch with the situation in the canal. All dredging in the Memphis harbor is now under the direction of the dredging board and not by the local United States engineer's office.

The government's dredge fleet morning registered 16 feet, a fall of 1 foot by the river in 24 hours. Prediction is that the river will continue to fall for an indefinite period and for this reason those officials charged with the maintenance of the harbor are making preparations to keep the canal open if possible.

Prior to the rise of the river government dredges had secured a depth of several feet below their standard point, but the recent soundings indicate that the silt deposited by the river during the high stage has brought the depth back to that point or near it in the canal.

The wharfbank of the steamer Idlewild was resting on the mud at the foot of Monroe avenue Friday morning by the recession of the river and several of the larger boats have grounded during the past two days while maneuvering about the canal. The government dredges probably will resume their work shortly in order to maintain navigation in the canal.

Mr. Livingston filed the application not only on behalf of the retiring city administration, but with the full approval of Mayor Payne and the new commission.
